ruhr.agency

(Senior) IT Consultant - Lean ERP & Digitization

Full-time, Essen office or remote ruhr.agency is a young, rising e-commerce, ERP and IT consultancy. Our mission is to get the most out of our customers' data and systems. As xentral & Odoo ERP premium partner, most of our projects are in the areas of ERP implementation and development as well as business intelligence. With our solutions, we create powerful IT landscapes and digitize, automate and optimize our customers' processes.

Your tasks:

Do you want to use your expertise in consulting to sustainably develop our Lean ERP & Digitalization area and not just create abstract concepts and gaudy powerpoints? Then this is where you can get stuck in:

- You take over the consulting of corporates, emerging startups and unicorns in the implementation of functional requirements and their implementation in IT systems (especially ERP)
- Thereby you start with the analysis of requirements and existing applications and processes of the customer
- In addition to conceptual consulting, the design and optimization of digital business processes and project management tasks, you implement the solutions created using an agile mindset (prototyping, MVP, sprints)
- Connecting additional IT systems and automating workflows.
- Depending on the main topic, customizing and various development activities (preferably with Python) are also part of your scope of duties
- Preparation and execution of coaching sessions and workshops with customers
- Acquisition and pre-sales activities

Your Skills:

- A university degree in STEM or business or comparable qualification successfully completed
- At least 2 years of relevant work experience, including experience in IT consulting and/or ERP environment
- In-depth knowledge of general business processes and data structures
- Programming skills, preferably in Python and SQL

- Process knowledge and its implementation in ERP systems are also welcome, for example in the areas of controlling, finance, logistics, operations, procurement or general industry knowledge (especially e-commerce)
- Knowledge of agile project approaches (Scrum, Kanban)
- Your personality: analytical, structured, reliable and independent
- Excellent communication skills and power of persuasion, as well as very good written and spoken German and English skills

What awaits you:

- A wide-ranging and varied job in a young and international team
- Exciting clients: Startups, unicorns, as well as established DAX corporations
- Make it yours instead of the usual: we value your own ideas and approaches to solutions
- A secure job in a future-oriented industry with superior compensation
- A newly furnished office with high-quality furnishings, flexible work options, central location, free coffee and drinks, and other goodies
- Regulated work-life balance with optional home office component
- High-quality equipment (premium notebook Apple HP and smartphone)
- 10 days special leave

Sounds exciting? Then send your CV, salary expectations and a short introduction why you are the right person for our team to hr@ruhr.agency.
